printed the replies of the president of the supreme Soviet and President Nikolai Shvernik.

Violate Treaty Obligations

Since President Truman received the Red call for disarmament and elimination of atomic weapons on Monday, State Department spokesmen have emphasized the Soviet Union's repeated violations of international treaty obligations.

They say that it would be absurd to trust the Russians now by entering into a new agreement with them, and they point to the accelerated "hate America" campaign as waged at the East Berlin youth festival.

The spokesmen also stress the difficulties involved in following the Kremlin's suggestion that the peace pact be signed by Red China as well as by the U. S., Russia, Great Britain and France.

No Peace At Peace Table

The Washington view is that the Peiping regime has no place at the peace table, since the U. S. does not recognize Red China and is getting nowhere with the Mao Tse-tung government in the Korean cease-fire discussions.

In addition, intelligence reports warn of a steady troop build-up by the Soviets and their satellites with Yugoslavia believed to be the prime target of a possible communist attack.

Congressional committees have heard a considerable amount of confidential information on this build-up from Defense Secretary Marshall, Army Secretary Pace and top military leaders.

The Pentagon is no more anxious to be trapped into phony peace talks than the State Department is. Top administration officials are afraid the American people might be swayed from their defense efforts by false hopes.

Fall weather is just around the corner and the wise shopper will sit down now and make a list of many articles needed about the house as well as for the various members of the family which are seldom remembered during humid summer days. When complete, the list should be placed beside today's News as well as Tuesday's where the handy ads of the cooperating merchants will show just where to get that needed article.

Comparison shows that Dollar Day bargains offered by New Castle's cooperating merchants just can't be beat. An inspection of the goods offered in each store will prove that quality merchandise is being offered at hard to believe prices.

cial, it is the first cost estimate on the war to be given by a responsible official.

The giant defense department appropriation bill for the current fiscal year which began July 1 will be given three days consideration by the house.

Despite its record-breaking size, it is 1.5 billion dollars less than President Truman asked. By services, it provides:

The army, $20,125,574,665—a cut of 685 million dollars.

The navy, $15,552,143,225—a cut of 194 million dollars.

The air force, $19,854,128,000—a cut of 647 million dollars.

The office of the secretary of defense, $528,800,000—a cut of 16 million.

Most of the fighting was confined to reconnoitering and probing action on both sides.

Weather hampered Allied operations in the east but diminishing rains in the west permitted greater freedom to patrol in that sector.

There was only one reported patrol clash near the neutralized cease-fire zone around Kaesong. This small action took place west of Korangpo.

GOP Caucus Chairman James R. Berger, Potter, said if the committee "doesn't get anywhere by next week, we will consider sine die adjournment."

If the committee drafts a program, it will arrange a meeting with a select House group to see if members of the Lower Chamber will accept it.

All revenue-raising bills must originate in the House. House leaders have been touchy about Senate overtures because practically all administration measures, including the income tax, were approved by the Lower Chamber which is headed by strong administration supporters.

The budget-tax puzzle which has kept the General Assembly in session long past the usual final adjournment date, kicked off some bitter exchanges on the Senate floor before adjournment yesterday.

Brings Number to 38

Those arrested are being arraigned before U. S. commissioners in the districts where they were picked up.

The apprehensions bring to 38 the number of communist party leaders taken into custody since June.

The round-up marked another phase of the government's drive against the second and third line of command since the Supreme Court upheld the convictions of the party's 11 top officials in New York.

Following the court's ruling in June, the Justice Department nabbed 21 secondary leaders, including 17 in Pittsburgh and New York.

Twelve additional arrests were made about two weeks ago in Los Angeles, San Francisco and New York.

It was not known where the FBI would strike next, but there were indications that Chicago might be one target.

forces officials, including Army Secretary Pace witnessed the White Sands test.

"Working Long Time For This" The button firing the huge rocket was pushed by James Hartman, engineer with the Glenn Martin Aircraft company, builders of the rocket. After watching the pencil-slim projectile ascend, he said:

"We've been working a long time for this one."

The previous record for a single-phase rocket was 114 miles, set by a German-built V-2 fired at White Sands. An earlier Viking reached an altitude of 108 miles for the American mark.

A score of tracking stations astride the proving grounds, roughly the size of the state of Vermont, centered on the Viking. It flashed a brilliant white vapor trail and a pretzel-shaped vapor cloud was still visible after the rocket landed 40 miles north in the center of the range.

Tension before the firing built up when an external hydraulic line let go nine minutes before the send-off. The line was repaired and the rocket fuel, some of which had evaporated, was replenished.

As of 9 o'clock Wednesday evening (7 a.m. EDT), 31½ hours after Ridgway's Tuesday message was transmitted, neither the Peiping nor Pyongyang radios had so much as mentioned it.

At the UN truce camp below Kaesong, a delegation spokesman said that when and if the Red high command makes a satisfactory reply to Ridgway's message, the top Allied commander will order his delegates to arrange renewal of the talks.

The officer, Brig. Gen. William F. Nuckolls, said the UN delegation thereupon will suggest a day and time for the next session of the conference, which Ridgway broke off last Sunday because Red troops entered Kaesong the day before.

Truman Asks For Fund Restoration On Flood Control

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(INS)—President Truman criticized the House of Representatives for "false economy" in lopping off nearly 20 per cent of funds requested for flood control for the 1952 fiscal year.

He asked the Senate to restore the cuts and at the same time requested an additional $21,800,000 for flood control work in Oklahoma, Kansas and along the Arkansas river and Mississippi river in the Illinois region.

The President urged the Senate restoration in a letter to Sen. McKellar (D. Tenn., chairman of the Senate appropriations committee.

The President said the House action was "false economy," contending that budget requests for flood control were "for only the minimum necessary" to carry on vitally needed work.

AN INSPIRING STORY

An 18-year-old boy, Gilbert Provencher, has been having a successful one-man art show in New York City, in which most of his paintings have been sold at satisfactory prices. Standing alone, that would be evidence merely of precocity. What makes it truly remarkable is that as a boy of 14 he dived into a stream in his native New Hampshire, struck his head on hard bottom and was paralyzed from the shoulders down.

When the lad was examined there was a faint movement of the left shoulder and a faint trace of strength in the biceps of his left arm. These were carefully developed. Always Gilbert had wanted to be a painter. He first tried it with a brush in his teeth, but that was a failure. He did begin to get results with a brush strapped to his left elbow. Most of his paintings are of scenes of his New Hampshire countryside.

For two months this young man has been at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation in New York City, where the exhibit has been held. There they are not trying to teach him to paint—he can do that—but to paint better. He has been offered an art fellowship, is assured of a studio of his own and a Christmas card concern will use some of his work.

For amputees who lie in pain in veterans' hospitals, skeptical that as to themselves the wonderful work already accomplished in restoring men to active life will succeed, the story of Gilbert Provencher should bring hope and inspiration.

POLITICS NO BEAUTY CONTEST

It is ironic that Kentucky, where admiration for beautiful women is equalled only by a devotion to spirited horses, has furnished a demonstration of the down-to-earth political fact that candidates for public office are not necessarily elected on their looks.

There was no question that the voters had a chance to show their appreciation of a beautiful woman. Mrs. Joseph Murphy, Jr., a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the House of Representatives, was a fully accredited beauty, having been chosen Miss America in 1944. But the Kentucky voters failed her, and she finished last in a field of four.

Meaning no disrespect to anybody, it's been evident for some time that voters don't choose their public servants on the basis of good looks. Maybe it's because they believe that beauty is only skin deep, or maybe, in the case of an occasional good-looking lady candidate, the rest of the women vote against her out of sheer envy.

Mrs. Murphy apparently leans to the latter theory. "I should have gone after the men," was her rueful post-election comment. But that doesn't offer much of a solution for office-seeking beauty contest winners. If Miss America is turned down by the tradition-loving men of Kentucky, what chance would she have in any other state?

DIRTY BUSINESS

Commenting on the crime, vice and gambling combinations and rackets in the United States, and corruption in some political circles, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, says:

"There is nothing pleasant in any discussion on the subject of crime. Crime exists because of failures—failure to prevent delinquency and failure to correct delinquency. Beyond that, there is a failure to prevent crime, a failure to detect crime, a failure to prosecute crime, a failure to properly deal with crime and a failure to take the profit out of crime."

"The solution of the crime problem is a simple matter: Enforce existing laws fairly and impartially, vigorously and relentlessly, and mobilize the full force of every medium of education as to the facts about crime. I have no sympathy with the position of those who constantly are urging against the publication of information on crime. In fact, I would urge the dissemination of more information on crime which puts crime in its proper perspective and reveals it in all its horror and filth, and revolting character. Only in that way can public lethargy be forced into action."

"The evils of gang wars, gambling, vice, political corruption and organized crime can be eliminated from the American scene. The fundamental solution lies in aroused and awakened citizens, militantly demanding the action which will eliminate the gambling czar, the crook and the venal politician. Blast the foundation of the local gambling czar, by vigorously enforcing the statutes against gambling without fear or favor and he will collapse and, like a house of cards, the vast pyramid of gambling will collapse."

"We can never have a crime-free America until all who stand for law and order are united and determined to mobilize against those who constitute our army of lawlessness. Only a return to the fundamentals upon which this nation was founded—a moral reawakening—a revitalized spirit and a reeducation of service to our fellow man—can make this a reality."

"No nation ever won a war unless its people were united and dedicated to the common cause."

Red So-Called 'Peace Rally'

The utter and absolute regimentation that has been imposed on communist youth by order of the Kremlin seemed amply proved today by the comparative lack of violence in the so-called "peace rally" that is now taking place in East Berlin.

In May a year ago, there was a similar meeting of young people from Soviet Russia and the satellite nations, plus communist volunteers from free countries.

And from beginning to end, it was a series of street scuffles, of rifle and pistol shots, the explosion of home-made bombs and fiery oaths shouted across the sector lines in the Potsdamerplatz divided by the Soviet area from those controlled by the western powers.

Carefully Planned
The lack of Red provocation in this instance is a logical outgrowth of Soviet Russia's carefully planned and highly suspected campaign of peace for the world—on Moscow's terms.

It is not easy for the western mind, however, to comprehend just how in the space of 12 short months the hundreds of thousands of communist youths dragged into meetings of this sort could have been converted from hooliganism to almost painful politeness.

There have been militant anti-western demonstrations, of course, and bouts of oratory accusing the United States and the other western powers of militarism and warmongering.

But these have been followed by cheers, parades, songs and pledges of allegiance to Joseph Stalin rather than rock-hurling and incursions across the border to insult allied troops and policemen and assault the western flags.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHEN YOUR CHILD WON'T EAT

To expect a child to eat what is set before him and not to leave the table till he has finished his meal is a noble purpose. But to require him to do so at the table until he has finished eating all the food on his plate or beside it is not usually a good way to achieve this purpose.

Imagine the number of boys and girls between four and 12 who sit at the table as long as an hour after the rest of the family have finished. Meal after meal, day after day, week in and week out—this must have gone on for years.

Seems Like Punishment
By the child it is interpreted as punishment. It marks him as dependent and infantile. It symbolizes a lack of normal family enjoyment. He does not engage in happy conversation. He does not feel buoyant and gleeful then; he's in disgrace. Besides, he probably has nagged at while the rest of the family was sitting at the table with him. How can he feel himself a worthy member of his family?

Imagine yourself in this child's place, sitting over food you despised while the mother cleared the rest of the table the other family members moved about. Perhaps the father had already gone to work. And if a neighbor dropped in while you were sitting there, how would you feel, especially if you were six, nine or 12 years old?

Next Meal Ahead
When at last you forced yourself to eat the last morsel, even if you washed it down with milk or water, you still have the next meal and the next ahead of you. You are no more ready to enjoy your meals and finish them with the family, but less so, perhaps, as day follows day.

The kind of child who, under such conditions, will stay at the table until he has consumed all the food served, would readily adapt himself to the following program:
Instead of serving him at the beginning of the meal with as much food as you suppose he should have, put on his plate of each essential food, or of one or two of them, as little as he wishes you to serve, just so it is visible. Or, better still, let him serve himself. If he has to drink milk, put beside his plate a glass of milk with only a few tablespoonsful of milk in it. How easily he will eat this meager amount in a very short while. In case he asks for more, he should have his choice.

Outlook Brighter
Treated so, this child will gradually gain not only an appetite for proper food, but also self-regard and a feeling that he is a worthy member of the family group. His whole outlook will be brighter. He will be a happier and more lovely person at home and elsewhere. If at school he has dived over his written work, he may grow more cooperative and self-reliant. He is well on the way to growth in independence and responsibility.

Mothers of younger children can avoid this eating problem if they will follow the suggestions in my bulletin, "Food Problems," (to be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.). Letting child feed himself as early as possible, no forcing of food in to him, very small helpings, one food before him at a time, always letting him choose between what is offered and nothing, no remarks by parent about food or his eating and no stirrings in her insides. Mothers of children not responding to these simple measures may need the counsel of a pediatrician.

Bible Thought

Follow a clean path that leads upward, and stick to that path. Turn not to the right nor to the left, remove they foot from evil—Prov. 4:27.

of a curious denial of the loudly-touted communist concept of freedom. For certainly many of the young people who favored violence a year ago could not have been so completely tamed in such a short space of time without utmost indoctrination and later vigilance.

Communist leadership knew, of course, that coincident with the Berlin assemblage, more than 400 elected representatives from 63 democratic nations would be meeting at Cornell University at Ithaca, N. Y., in quite another type of session.

This is the World Assembly of Youth—an organization established in 1948 and with its headquarters in Brussels, founded to give voice to the plans and aspirations of young people who have not fallen or been coerced into the theory of one-man rule.

The numerical contrast between the two meetings is interesting. There are only a few hundreds at Ithaca—each an individual, duly-elected representative with ideas to present and the mentality to transform them into human progress.

Robots On Display
Communism's leadership hopes to have two million robots on display in Berlin.

In this respect, incidentally, initial reports from the one-time German capital indicate something of a disappointment for the Red organizers.

Only 400,000 of the hoped-for total had shown up on the first day.

And even at that, housing was at a premium and the failure of the Soviet occupation authorities to make great strides in the rebuilding of bombed-out areas was pointed up to an illuminating degree.

But the most important aspect of the occasion seems to be the regimented emphasis that the Russians are placing on the so-called "drive for peace" which has engendered more than a mild skepticism among all the allied nations.

The advance agents and promotion managers of the Berlin session sent along their crates of white doves along with huge pictures of Stalin and Molotov.

They dispatched their best propaganda technicians and their bill-posters, much in the nature of a first-class circus on a nationwide run.

But it is quite obvious they sent their commissars too, just to make sure a veneer of quiet was maintained on a group of young people taught before that violence is the only means to an end.

From Me To You

By MESEFALL

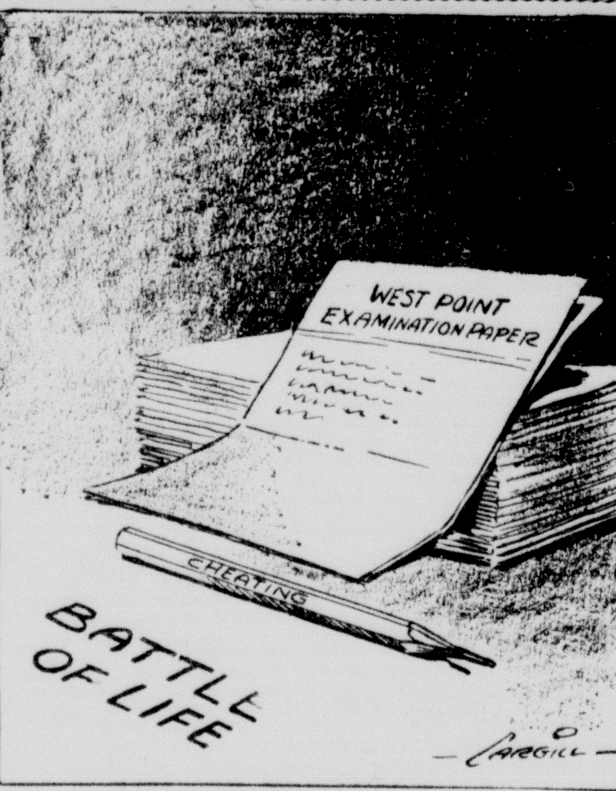

We have told you a lot about meetings . . . and about places for entertainment . . . but today we want you to know about a meeting that will be held in the Castleton Hotel . . . In fact the meeting is right tonight . . . is under the leadership of the GNCA . . . topic for information will be that very interesting one . . . Air Purification . . . In other words, how to free the air of smoke, dirt, and other impurities.

James Rugh, president of the GNCA has done a great job in organizing the various committees such an organization needs . . . And this one titled Air Purification has secured for tonight's meeting an expert on the subject. He is a man from Cincinnati who during his adult life has made it his business to study "smoke" problems in many of our "smoky" cities. The problem of "doing-away" with smoke and other impurities in New Castle can not be accomplished in a week or two weeks or even a few months . . . But our town can be made clean . . . which the housewife will appreciate.

So why not take a trip down to the meeting tonight . . . see what other communities have done . . . there is a part in the Air Purification Program for each and every one . . . There are proper ways to burn coal . . . and that will be explained tonight also . . . In fact this man knows more about that one problem than most of our coal dealers . . . Chas. Sweezy tells us that he, as well as some of his co-dealers in coal in this community, will be on hand. They want to learn the proper firing methods so they can intelligently teach their customers . . . Smoke not only spoils the paint on a house but it doesn't help the paint jobs on cars . . . or women. And the nose of each human could stand some smoke-free air.

Well that's enough talking . . . how about hitching up the old wagon and making tracks to the Castleton and let's see what goes with such a problem . . . Seven-thirty is the time. See for yourself just how you can help make New Castle a cleaner town in which to live and work and play.

Washington Calling

(By MARQUIS CHILDS)

Troubles Of Congress Members

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—With the onset of the dog days, there are always two theories about how to bring a lagging reluctant congress around to a sense of duty and action. One is the nose-to-the-grindstone thesis which holds that the more they suffer, the more they are likely to stop stalling and get down to work.

But this is a risky procedure, since it can produce intense irritation and highly irrational behavior. Senator Tom Connally exhibited that last week when he blew his top at ECA Administrator William C. Foster, who had come before the foreign relations committee to explain how policies laid down by congress on foreign aid were to be carried out. A crotchety 74, Connally is a sort of bunion barometer of the temper of "The Hill."

Alternate Theory
The alternate theory is to call a recess of six weeks or so. This allows the overworked, overheated members to go home and find out what people are thinking, or maybe just take a rest. Or, if they are senators who are not up for reelection next year, they can get off to some cool place for a long rest. Then they come back refreshed in the early fall.

While rumors of a recess beguiled congress for a time, the administration has settled on the grindstone approach. Majority leader Ernest McFarland is setting a target date by which time congress will have wound up its business and be ready to start home. That date is September 15.

Not a single regular appropriation bill has been finally passed by both houses. Foreign aid in the amount of $8.5 billions and a military budget of $60 billions are little items still in committee stage. That target date is a wishful hope, with the realists assuming it will be October 15 or later before congress clears out.

Congressman Stuck
So the poor congressman is stuck with it. Consider his day. It is filled with harassments, pressures and, above all, frustrations.

He wakes early, because of the barking of the neighbor's dog, to the realization that it is to be another hot, sticky day. He is alone in the house, left to the not so tender mercies of an indifferent servant. The family went back home in mid-July. (Just before his wife went away she said, "Well, if you ever want the children to know what they're supposed to do, come home, we ought to go back and open the house even though I dread it.")

At the office his secretary greets him with a list of people he's got to see. And they're calling from the recording room for him to make the record of the forum discussion on the new price control law. At 11:30 he's got to shake hands with two groups of high school kids from back home. The secretary notes that they both want to have photographs taken with him.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

The big star of a musical yesterday was Eddie Foy, but the first curtain call on opening night the ingenue suddenly stepped to the apron of the stage and took the bow. Later she told Foy tearfully, "I knew perfectly well the applause was for you. I don't know what came over me. Can you ever forgive me?" "It's quite all right, my dear," Foy assured her. "I always take the center of the stage with me."

A stranger wandered into Slip Muldoon's Crazy Gulch saloon and tried to cash a check for a hundred dollars. Slip leaned across the bar and assured the Easterner in a stage whisper, "You look like an all-right character and your check is probably good for a hundred thousand bucks. But I don't trust them big New York banks. They'll probably gyp both of us!"

Loujour Les Americains

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

HEADQUARTERS, FIFTH AIR DIVISION, Rabat, French Morocco
—Franco-American relationships have never quite recovered from the days when President Roosevelt, the Great Emancipator, swept across the south shores of the Mediterranean Sea, promising "freedom" to the entire Arab world.

Freedom is a fine and dandy thing, but so is the principle of minding one's own business. Roosevelt's gaudy promises, which were far beyond his power to deliver, somehow planted the notion around French Morocco that American troops were born for the purpose of liberating this protectorate from the French.

Since that is not exactly why the GIs are coming back to North Africa, it's easy to see what is meant when the three-way relationship of Moroccans, French and Americans is officially described as "delicate."

Last month a pair of New York reporters sailed through the area and turned out a series of pieces which must have set Lafayette spinning in his grave. The articles pointed out—with some truth but little purpose—that American engineering know-how has it all over the French and that Moroccan labor is not getting full benefit of the American building boom.

Like Diplomatic Firecracker

Such statements, which would pass almost unnoticed in a less electrical atmosphere, went off like a diplomatic firecracker here. The French authorities cancelled an American air show which was to have entertained the natives last July 14th. Major General Archie J. Old Jr., commander of the Fifth Air Division, which has its headquarters squadron here, told me that publication of the articles in the N. Y. Post cost him 30 days of negotiation with the French military officials.

Luckily for our side, the French are a friendly and forgiving people. They quite understand that an American commander has no control over newspaper men, and they know that the tempest of today usually becomes the forgotten breeze of tomorrow. Nobody's feelings were really hurt, and the famous French bonhomie is now fully restored.

All the same no incident which slows up the work, or stirs up local animosities, can be called unimportant. The Fifth Air Force combat crews are coming here, as soon as their fields are ready, for a number of interlocking reasons which need to be better understood throughout the free world. The purposes of these fighter and bomber crews will be:

Purpose Of These Crews

1. To serve as part of the Western Wall for the defense of the United States.
2. To backstop the Middle East oil fields against a Russian invasion.

3. To serve as part of the all-European defense forces which Gen. Eisenhower is trying to build up under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

With this big picture in view, it's easy to see that matters of less urgency must await their turn. Writing from the Portuguese Azores, I noted some immediate benefits which the Air Force is bringing the native population in return for use of airfields. Our job-training program is actually lifting the island civilization from the age of the ox-cart to the age of the four-engine aircraft. We have established there a situation of common interest which is as plain as the turban on an Arab's head.

Thousand Miles Off-Shore

But the Azores Archipelago is a thousand miles off-shore, a thousand miles westward of the Russian military menace. North Africa has been the traditional battleground for European wars, and it is the bridgehead between the West and the Middle East. The American policy of common interest prevails here just as strongly as in the Azores. The native population will eventually benefit—economically and politically—by bargaining with the Americans. But first things must come first. As Gen. Old puts it:

"Right now our job is to get these air bases operative. Some of the other things will have to wait."

That's the principle on which Strategic Air Command has imported hundreds of American construction workers and tons of American engineering equipment. The workers are getting between $2 and $3 an hour in a land where common labor draws 39 francs or 10 cents an hour. The Americans are using giant bulldozers and mammoth cement mixers which the mind of Afro-European labor can hardly comprehend.

Laid Out Base In Record Time

Literally dropping from the sky in C-74 transports, the American workers recently ripped into a tract of wasteland and laid out a usable airbase in less than 64 days. As if to prove that this was no accident, they tore into another site and had an operational airbase at the end of 82 days.

These feats, needless to say, are not without impact on the local communities. Americans have once more established themselves as supermen in the eyes of many natives and as embarrassingly competent partners in the eyes of some French engineers. Moreover, it takes no economic wizard to perceive that the whole country would have been better off if the Americans had acted as instructors rather than master-builders.

The course of international friendships, like that of true love, seldom runs smooth. This is well understood by the amorous French leadership in its spite of our overpowering ways. And the role of world leadership is sometimes easy, sometimes difficult. In French Morocco, it is difficult. But the American military officials here intend to do whatever has to be done, regardless.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

If a bill approved by the Senate postoffice committee goes through, you will have to pay four cents for every letter hereafter, two cents for your postcards, and eight cents for your airmail letters.

There will also be an increase of thirty per cent on second class mail matter—which means that you will have to pay that much more for your newspapers and magazines.

I would suggest that, to make these increases more palatable to the consumer, the gum affixed to each stamp be flavored.
It might be less painful if a three-cent stamp, for instance, were vanilla-flavored, an airmail stamp chocolate flavored, etc., etc.

It's too bad that the FREE mail service by Congressmen and Senators does not bear stamps. RASPBERRY flavor would be quite appropriate.

Before it is too late, let every man and woman write to his Senator and Congressman and PROTEST against that ridiculous bill.

Let every man and woman who has ever received the reprint of a speech from his Congressman, ask him to cut out that sort of thing. YOU pay for that reprint.

Says Atomic Ship Flight Seems Virtually Assured

By DARRELL GARWOOD
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Atomic Energy Chairman Gordon Dean said that the AEC's operations have virtually assured atomic ship propulsion and flight and have built up an enormous potential for raising the standard of living.

The chairman's statement was made on the sixth anniversary of the first use of the atomic bomb at Hiroshima, near the end of the Pacific war.

In Constructive Channels

While stating that the nation is hard at work to develop the hydrogen super-bomb and atomic warheads for artillery and guided missiles, the chairman emphasized that all of this effort can be turned into constructive channels if world peace is established.

In an exclusive article for International News Service, Dean said he is now confident that electricity from the atom and atomic submarines and planes will be achieved eventually.

He added: "It is important to remember that our stockpile of atomic weapons can, in effect, be 'melted down' for power and propulsion purposes if a really stable world peace is achieved."

The chairman said that just as the military need for atomic submarines is making possible the building of an engine, the vast stockpile of atomic bombs may make possible "the realization on a large scale of the higher standard of living which atomic energy promises."

Nuclear Flight Included

Dean's statement went beyond the AEC's official reports by including nuclear flight among the eventual achievements that are now assured.

He said: "We are much farther along on the submarine reactor (engine) than we are on the aircraft one, but I am sure in my own mind that eventually we are going to have both."

A contract is being let to General Electric to build an atomic plane motor, and it is believed that a way has been found for applying atomic heat to jet propulsion.

Dean said the AEC's current "very large" expansion program, including huge new plants near Paducah, Ky. and Aiken, S. C., will greatly increase the country's atomic potential and raise the AEC's net investment in plants from about 2.5 to about 4.5 billion dollars.

This American banker, Marriner S. Eccles, was born in Logan, Utah, Sept. 8, 1890. He organized his own investment company, a holding company for interests in family estates, in 1916. He was vice president and general manager until 1929, then president of a bank in Ogden, and held several leading posts in various other business concerns. He served as assistant to the secretary of the United States treasury in 1934, and then became governor of the Federal Reserve board and chairman of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve system. Ending 17 years on the Federal Reserve board, he recently resigned to return to personal business interests in his home state.

Born on Nov. 17, 1894, in Greece, this statesman, Sophocles C. Venizelos, served in World War I and in the Asia Minor campaign. He was a deputy for Canea in 1920, then military attaché at the Greek legation in Paris. He lived in France during the totalitarian regime in his country, until 1943, and was minister of marine in the Greek government in exile. He was prime minister of Greece for two months in 1944, then minister without portfolio, and was then elected deputy for Serrai as chief of his liberal party. He is now prime minister of Greece, appointed in 1950.

I could go on and on with this—but what's the use?

Where is it going to stop? How much longer can our economy stand that sort of thing?

How much longer can YOU stand being milked dry?

But in the meantime our government officials are having the time of their lives.

They fly—with the greatest of ease—all over the world, taking their families along. They ride around in government automobiles. They stay at expensive hotels at YOUR expense, while you stay at home, trying to get the money together for THEIR excursions.

ECONOMY is the one word that they don't know.

Yet, ECONOMY is the basis of all ECONOMICS.

Pennsylvanians Are Urged To Help Defense Program

HARRISBURG, Aug. 8.—(INS)—Pennsylvanians were urged today by State Commerce Secretary Andrew J. Sordani to help the defense program by turning in all scrap iron and steel in their possession.

"The most effective contribution that many of us can make to the defense program at this time," Sordani said, "is to make available through the regular commercial scrap collection channels all iron and steel objects which no longer are useful."

"Most of us have machines, tools, utensils or other metal objects which no longer are used and are not likely to be used in the future."

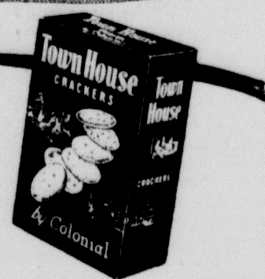

"I ask that county, city, borough and township officials survey their institutions, storerooms and other properties for unserviceable iron and steel; some can be found in old bridges left standing when bypassed by new structures.

"Industries, railroads and other utilities in many instances will find iron and steel suitable for scrap in their warehouses and other storage places. If farmers will look in their barns and sheds, and householders in their attics and cellars, I am sure that, together, they can contribute many thousands of tons of scrap not presently in use."

Over 1300 Meals Every Day Will Be Task At Hospital

If you're an average housewife, you rate preparing three meals a day as a fair-sized job. If you're an average husband, you think getting your own breakfast a monumental task. So how would you like to turn out 1300 meals a day?

That's just the job Mrs. Charlotte Savage Friedman will be responsible for when Jameson Memorial hospital completes its new 94-bed addition. Mrs. Friedman, the hospital's head dietitian, and her staff will have a brand new kitchen to work with and take it from her. "This kitchen is designed to be worked in, not looked at."

That means more and better equipment than at present, with careful thought given to saving cooks, tray girls and even dishwashers unnecessary steps.

400 to 500 More Meals Daily
And though the meal-serving capacity will be increased by 400 to 500 a day, more efficient preparation and serving will mean only a small increase in the staff of 35, and the cost per meal should drop measurably.

"For one thing," said Mrs. Friedman, "we will have much more refrigerator space, so we will be able to buy in large quantities when we get good prices."

The meat refrigerator, for example, will be three or four times as large as it is now, an important feature because Jameson is one of only two hospitals in the northwestern Pennsylvania district which do their own meat-cutting. Head chef Roy Fulford doubles as a butcher.

There will be, too, a new frozen foods refrigerator and much larger milk and vegetable coolers.

A special vegetable preparation room will eliminate the bugaboo of cleaning vegetables in whatever corner of the kitchen they happen to be space.

Little of the present kitchen will be salvaged. The stainless steel range, bought only four years ago, will be kept but must be supplemented by an additional fryer section. The deep fat fryers are in good condition as are the six food trucks, which must be doubled in number.

Emphasis has been placed on making the kitchen as clean and airy as possible. From its present ground floor location in the north wing, it will be moved to the first floor of the new wing. Stainless steel will be used throughout, making cleaning much easier.

Unusual Angle
An unusual angle that will ease clean-up work is that none of the equipment will have legs. Tables, racks and the like will be suspended from the wall by brackets. Everything else will be set in masonry bases, extending all the way to the floor.

"There won't be any awkward corners of low-clearance areas to clean under," said Mrs. Friedman.

The pot-washing area will include three sinks—one for soaking, one for washing and one for rinsing—and garbage disposal units will eliminate the garbage hauling problem.

Much enlarged and improved in its new location will be the special diets kitchen, of particular importance to New Castle. "This region," Mrs. Friedman said, "has, for some unexplained reason, an unusually large number of diabetics and other special diet cases. Our special diets even now run 30 to 45 per meal."

The added facilities will make possible one big innovation in patients' meals, Mrs. Friedman said. Selective Diets
"We expect to offer selective diets to all private and semi-private patients," she explained. "They won't have a large choice, but it will be enough to come closer to meeting their actual desires—and it will cut down considerably on waste."

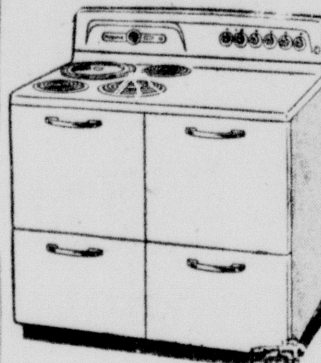

Though it won't affect patients directly, an important feature of the new feeding layout will be a bigger cafeteria and a much bigger dining room for the hospital staff and employees. The new dining room, which will seat about 150, will take the place of two smaller rooms now in use.

"It will be more efficient, more attractive and much more democratic," Mrs. Friedman added. Employees and staff now eat in separate dining rooms.

Mrs. Friedman, wife of hospital director J. F. Friedman, is currently looking after the eating requirements of young Joseph, born in mid-July, but she will return to her hospital duties in September and stay on until the new kitchen is installed and in operation. Then she plans to turn things over to her assistants, Mrs. Dayna Brandon and Mrs. Mary Gaillogly.

Feeding great numbers of people in a hospital, it seems, doesn't begin to take up time like feeding one small, healthy, hungry son.

Candidates File Accounts

Allow 30 Days
From Primary

Expense accounts of candidates in the primary election of July 24 are beginning to trickle in, but thus far only a few who spent less than $150 have been filed.

The law gives the candidates thirty days from the primary in which to file an account of what they spent. If it is less than $150 a detailed account need not be filed.

Over that amount each expenditure must be accounted for and where an expenditure was ten dollars or over, a receipt must accompany the account.

NOT CLEARED YET

Despite rumors and statements to that effect, the Democratic sample ballot episode has not yet been investigated by the district attorney's office and hence, is not cleared, as yet.

The case is that in which sample Democratic ballots, marked for candidates were placed among the official sample ballots in a number of precincts in the county.

Judge W. Walter Braham conducted a hearing of the incident and ordered the transcript of the testimony to be turned over to District Attorney Sherman K. Levine. This has not been done as yet. Mr. Levine is in Florida upon a vacation and is expected home late this week.

In commenting upon the case Assistant District Attorney John S. Powers said there was nothing wrong with the ballots which of course is true. It is a common practice for candidates and parties to have sample ballots printed with an X marked against the name of candidates favored. This has been done for years and is within the law. Printing them upon pink paper, the same as the official sample ballots is not permitted by law.

The investigation would seem to be around the placing of the sample ballots in the pile of official sample ballots where voters would pick them up when studying a sample ballot for information as to who was running.

There appears to be no doubt that this violation of the law and it was for the purpose of further investigation of these apparent violations that Judge Braham ordered the transcript of testimony turned over to Mr. Levine.

WITHDRAWS CANDIDACY

P. M. Cox of Volant has withdrawn from the race as a candidate for school director in Volant. Mr. Cox and Mrs. Isabelle Shaw, presently serving as a school director were tied upon the Republican ballot for the nomination. Mrs. Shaw won the Democratic nomination.

The withdrawal of Mr. Cox will give Mrs. Shaw both nominations and insures her election on November 6.

DRAW TIES FRIDAY

JUST ORNAMENTAL

SPENCERTOWN, N. Y. — For years, residents here wondered why the three-faced clock in the tower of St. Peter's church did not tell time. The reason became clear when painters started work on the steeple. They found that each set of hands was carved from one piece of wood.

John Bunyan wrote "Pilgrim's Progress" while he was in prison.

Cole Will Be Ring Master

Playground Circus Program Thursday At Taggart Stadium

Delace Cole, well-known New Castle dancer and stage performer, will be the ring master of the playground circus Thursday evening at Taggart Stadium. Mr. Cole will also be in an act of the circus using his unusual wit and limber limbs. New Castleites remember Mr. Cole from the many plays and shows he has starred in New Castle. The last show was "Red Hot and Blue" another civic sponsored show, held in New Castle last March.

The all-important last-minute details of any successful show are now being taken care of for the circus. Excitement among the children who's work is responsible for the circus is mounting. Tomorrow night is the night! All that remains to be done is the moving of the highly decorated floats from the different playgrounds to the "circus grounds" at Ben Franklin school. That will be done Thursday afternoon.

Animals of every description will be in the circus. Fierce tigers, amiable monkeys and lumbering elephants are but a few of the animals. "The Old Woman Who Lives In a Shoe" will be there with all her lively brood. Her shoe-house has been remodeled into a shimmering silver slipper (with all of the modern conveniences perhaps). Children from the playgrounds have worked hard and long to perfect and polish this circus. They need and want the support of Mr. and Mrs. New Castle. Just a few hours of busy adults time will make hundreds of children mighty happy.

"The Biggest Little Show in New Castle" will begin at 7 with the rousing cry of "the circus is coming" starting the thrilling parade promptly at 7:15. Thursday evening at Taggart Stadium.

Two Auto Fires Tuesday On East Washington Street

Company No. 4 of the New Castle Fire Department, at Ray street, answered two calls within 36 minutes of each other Tuesday afternoon for autos that had caught on fire on East Washington street.

The similarity does not end there, however. Both cars were of the same make and the same year, and the fires were both caused by defective wiring. The company was called to the corner of East Washington and Beckford streets at 2:30 p.m. when the car owned by Sam Ascone, 1024 DuShane street, caught fire. Estimated damage was $10.

The company was called again at 3:06 to the corner of East Washington and Morton streets, where the auto of John Bockius, R.D. 1, caught fire. Estimated damage was $5.

Lieut. Norman Cox Expects To Return From Korea Soon

He went to Japan in November, 1950, and went to Korea soon afterwards. Before going abroad, he was wing material officer at New Castle, Del., with the air force. Since his arrival overseas, his work has been in connection with the F-86 Sabrejets, their flights and personnel.

Prepare For Circus

Thursday evening will be Circus Day at Taggart Stadium. Colossal elephants and ferocious tigers will perform on the twin rings of the great Playground Circus. Here the two keepers of the wild tiger try to quiet it down so it's roars won't awaken the babies in the audience. In the background is the huge elephant from the Rose Avenue playground that will be on hand. The tiger seen in this photo is Victor Nativio of 931 Ryan avenue. The keepers are: Victor Gillett (left) 922 Ryan avenue and Garth McHattie, 1507 East Washington street. The animals and floats from Rose avenue were made by the girls and boys of that playground under the instructions of Miss Shirlene McGuire, playground director.

'U-R Roundup' Makes Its Bow

The "Universal-Rundle Roundup", magazine for the Universal-Rundle Corporation has made its bow to the employees and the public and the current edition is well organized, well written and sufficiently broken up with art to make it attractive.

The "Roundup" is for all of the U-R plants, New Castle, Camden (2), Milwaukee and Redlands, Cal. A heavy type of book paper is used which permits the reproduction of fine screen cuts. One interesting article in the current issue is that concerning Ralph Lutton, a member of the shipping department. Over nine months ago he noticed a shipment of bathroom ware destined for the Methodist Board of Missions in New York City.

Feeling confident the ware would eventually reach a mission post he enclosed his name and address and a Gospel of St. John.

Recently, as a result he received a letter from Burleigh A. Law, Jr., a missionary stationed at Wembo Nyama, par Lusambo, Congo Belge, Afrique.

Mr. Law is a native of Weirton, W. Va., and is now located in the Belgian Congo.

HEREFORD, Eng.—The World Conference of Hereford Cattle Breeders, who clam to raise the world's best beef, had a banquet here last night.

The main course: choice of Salmon or turkey.

Video Devotee Is Divorce Victim

EASTON, Pa., Aug. 8.—(INS)—Mrs. Ruth E. Rogers is as fond of television as the next lady—but the court agreed with her that enough is enough.

Judge William A. Frack granted her divorce plea yesterday after she complained that her husband, Blaine, "would do nothing in the evening but look at television."

After an evening of video, she charged, her husband would go to bed and never take her anywhere. She also accused her husband of having been unsocial in other ways.

Truman, Taft, Eisenhower Head List Of Possibilities In Sweepstakes Of 1952

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON (U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Pres. Truman, Robert A. Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today head a long list of probable, possible and potential candidates in the presidential sweepstakes of 1952.

The president is conceded the Democratic nomination if he desires another term in the White House.

Senator Taft is out in front of the Republicans now—a little short of a year before the convention—because he is organizing a nationwide campaign for the nomination.

Great "Question Mark"

Eisenhower presents the great "question mark" until he states whether he will run and in which party.

There are a host of other possibilities behind the "big three." In the Democratic party, there is widespread southern opposition to the president's nomination, even though the move is headed for certain defeat. It is recalled that Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia won 263 delegates at the 1948 convention while running against Mr. Truman.

It seems certain that the southerners will launch a new third party in 1952 if Mr. Truman is re-nominated. Senator Russell might well be their nominee, though others mentioned included the two Arkansas senators—the 55-year-old veteran leader, John J. McEllan, and the Rhodes scholar, J. William Fulbright.

Would Open New Vista

If Mr. Truman should step aside, it opens a brand new vista to Democratic possibilities. The chief justice of the United States, Fred M. Vinson, who will be 62 next January, is regarded as Mr. Truman's only "heir apparent," however, of the justice's friends, however, say he will never retire from the court to run for the presidency.

If it be neither Truman nor Vinson, then the field is wide open.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Junior Experimentation

Mrs. Norton was disturbed. Her two-and-a-half-year-old Timmy seemed to her to be cruel. For one thing, he would walk up to other young children, give them a push and then watch interestedly as they cried. On another occasion, she watched him out in the back yard delightedly stepping on ants.

She finally got up enough courage to talk about her "problem" with the nursery-school teacher who lived down the street. Miss Cathcart was sympathetic. "Yes, I can see how you would feel," she said. "But really, Mrs. Norton, I doubt if Timmy is doing anything more than experimenting. Of course, you will want to help him learn not to push children around and to watch the ants without stepping on them. But he isn't showing cruelty. He's just trying to see how things happen. All of us have had to learn how to act in acceptable ways. None of us has grown up without at least a few incidents causing one to say, 'He's being cruel.' But to say, 'He's experimenting,' usually it's just a youngster has to 'get back' at something or someone when he's feeling upset and disturbed—is he likely to do things that might truly be called cruel?"

Only when a youngster has to "get back" at something or someone when he's feeling upset and disturbed—is he likely to do things that might truly be called cruel?

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 8.—(INS)—Lady Sylvia Ashley, estranged wife of actor Clark Gable, returned from Honolulu Tuesday and is expected to be in the "king of the screen."

The beautiful blonde returned to California by plane after an extended Pacific cruise to seek "solace and peace" after her marriage breakup.

Asked about her divorce plans, she parried: "I never answer questions."

Duff Clashes
With OwlettTempers Of Two Men Revealed

HARRISBURG, Aug. 8.—The rapid-fire exchange between national Republican committeeman G. Mason Owlett and U. S. Sen. James H. Duff contrasts the tempers of the two men. It all started with Owlett's statement that Pennsylvania governors "traditionally" head the GOP delegation to presidential nominating conventions. He insisted that he was talking about the chairmanship and made no reference to Duff by name. The statement was routine in that it had been said before by others under similar circumstances in the past. In reply, Duff assailed Owlett and in effect said, in language as bristling as his red hair, that the national committeeman didn't know when to stop talking. Despite denials, the exchange pointed up one thing: That Duff is shooting for control of the delegation in 1952 and that there are those who don't agree with his ambition.

The state game commission released more than 7,000 four to seven weeks old ducklings in Pennsylvania during the early summer weeks in the first phase of a restocking program scheduled to spread over several years. The ducklings, all banded, were mallards, blacks and mallard cross-breeds. The waterfowl were released in hard-to-get-to spots so that woods lovers would not find and tame them. The commission expects hunters to forward information after taking banded ducks. Those hunters who cooperate will be advised where their bird was liberated.

It costs about $4000 a day in salaries to operate the legislature seven days a week whether in session or not during a regular biennial meeting. The several hundred employees on the payroll since January have had a fairly easy time during the 1951 session because all in all up to August 1 they have put in 73 working days. Per diem salaries run from $8 a day for pages up to more than $30 for recorders. The chief clerk of the house and the secretary of the senate each are paid $9000 annually. Per diem salaries alone in the seven months the legislature has been in session cost about $644,000 while compensation for lawmakers plus mileage, tax-free "expense accounts" and the pay for full-time salaried workers has pushed the grand total to more than two million dollars. The end of the session is not yet in sight although hope grows that sine die adjournment is not too far over the horizon.

The Public Utility Commission has been using a foxy phrase for some months in an effort to duck some criticism directed its way after allowing a rate increase for some firms. Some one in authority decided that it would be better—especially if state capital newsmen could be persuaded to use the phrase in their copy—to say that the "Public Utility Commission took no action to suspend" such-and-such an increase. Newsmen did not rise to the bait. The PUC stand is that such automatic increases never were publicized before. The commission explains via a spokesman that by not acting to suspend it allows the increase without voting. But such an argument obviously should be disregarded because frequently announcements that no action was taken to suspend a rate most carry a note buried in the copy that commissioner so-and-so voted against it.

Bill Would Raise
Salaries Of Judges

HARRISBURG, Aug. 8.—(INS)—A bill increasing salaries of Pennsylvania judges a total of $814,000 annually was half way through the General Assembly today.

Common pleas and orphan court jurists would go from $16,500 to $18,975 and county court judges would get $13,800 instead of $12,000 with the president judge receiving $14,375.

State supreme court chief justices would get an annual paycheck of $26,000 instead of the present $23,500 and associate justices from $21,500 to $24,000 with other members getting $23,500, a $2500 raise.

RETURNS $300

HARRISBURG, Aug. 8.—(INS)—The return of $300 in expense money by Sen. Donald P. McPherson Jr. R., Adams, was reported today by Auditor General Weldon B. Heyburn.

McPherson returned the sum in excess of the $600 expense allowance voted legislators prior to his election to the Senate in keeping with a promise when he cast the lone ballot against a bill hiking the monthly accounts to $900.

Beautification Needs Examined

GNCA Committee Plans Action

Some of the apparent needs for the beautification of the city were brought out Tuesday at noon when the City Beautification committee of the Greater New Castle Association met in The Castleton. Chairman Ross D. Rosenberger presided at the meeting and asked each member to express an opinion as to what might be done.

The answers were varied but all of them had merit. The matter of approaches to the city, the banks of the Neshannock creek in the downtown area, paper litter on the streets, those and a host of other suggestions were made.

The committee is barely under way as yet but in September another meeting will be held to crystallize some opinion as to first things to be done.

'Northern Tier' Turnpike Is Now Proposed

HARRISBURG, Aug. 8.—(INS)—Legislation authorizing construction of the "northern tier" turnpike linking Erie and Scranton was reported favorably Tuesday by the house highways committee.

Similar legislation was approved in other sessions of the general assembly to build extensions from the east-west super-highway into the Erie and Scranton areas.

The northern tier measure, which passed the senate June 25 by a vote of 49-1, was co-sponsored by Republican Senators C. Arthur Blass, of Erie; Leroy E. Berger, of Potter; and Guy Robinson, of Susquehanna.

The bill would permit issuance of bonds by the Pennsylvania Turnpike commission to underwrite construction costs.

The bonds would be amortized with tolls from the highway which would run through Wyoming, Bradford, Tioga, Potter, Warren and Erie counties.

Eight Wrecked Cars Take Fire

PIQUA, O., Aug. 8. — (INS) — Eight wrecked railroad freight cars blazed savagely for seven hours today at Piqua, threatening the while to touch off another car loaded with butane gas.

Three firemen including the Piqua fire chief, were hospitalized by the inferno touched off by two oil cars, which experts said could have turned the gas tank car into a flaming skyrocket.

The 40-foot flames resulting from the wreck of 18 Pennsylvania freight cars also threatened for a time to spread to the five-story Piqua Grain and Mill Company and the Pennsylvania Freight Station.

Piqua's new, 85-foot hook and ladder wagon was badly damaged by a sudden spurt of flame caused by oil spilled when a wrecking crew tried to drag one of the tank cars off the tracks.

Police fireman Charles Purtee, an eye witness, said a broken wheel apparently derailed the cars and sent some of them hurtling down a 25-foot embankment late yesterday. The fire did not break out until early today and was under control by mid-morning.

Proposed Bill To Increase Gambling Penalties Rejected

HARRISBURG, Aug. 8. — (INS) — A strengthened criminal code calling for stiffer penalties for gambling has been rejected by the senate judiciary general committee.

Sen. John R. Meade (R) Phila., said his move to report the bill to the floor last night was defeated by a voice vote.

"Almost everyone insisted there was something wrong with the bill and most of the members present voted against my motion," he said. Sen. A. Evans Kephart (R) Phila., committee chairman, was unable to explain the group's action and added that it came "while I was working on another bill."

In 1949 a similar code fell due to an oversight which forced Gov. James H. Duff to veto it. He said it would have nullified a previously adopted bribery law.

The code, which actually is a compilation of all criminal laws of the Commonwealth, would step up gambling fines from $500 to $1000.

It also features the "double murder" verdict authorizing a jury to fix the degree of a murder sentence and then consider additional evidence to determine whether the defendant should be given the death penalty.

The house approved the bill 203-0 several months ago and it has been in the senate since.

Cost of Wives Spirals Upward

LONDON — (INS) — Magic has failed to keep down the price of wives among the Gusi people of Kenya and an intending bridegroom needs 20 cows to buy himself a woman.

According to a report published by the British Colonial Office, there never was a uniform "bride rate" among the Gusi. Daughters sold for a nominal six cows and one bull and up to ten goats until recently when some shrewd papa upped his daughter's worth a cow or two.

Cashing in on the rising market, fathers increased the value of their daughters until now a would-be husband is paying as much as 20 cows, 20 goats and one bull.

Bridegrooms woefully compared the market with the 1930 prices when they needed only six cows, one bull and up to ten goats to lead a dusky maiden up the aisle.

Although there was a general feeling among the Gusi that the price hike was undesirable, the report said that when it came to the point, individual fathers were reluctant to make the first reductions.

The inflation trend became so evident that Gusi elders called meetings and publicly declared the need for reductions in the price of brides. The elders also pronounced magical sanctions against transgressors of the "price freeze."

In one instance, the report said, the Gusi elders who swore an oath were made to strip in order to strengthen it.

Natives reported that all the men who stripped had since died although they were not particularly old. They believed this was due to the oath being violated when the price of wives soared again.

Secretarial Facts Revealed In Study

PITTSBURGH — (INS) — Results of a survey of 10,000 professional secretaries located in 44 states show the average American executive secretary to be 36 years old, to have worked for her present employer eight years and to be earning $255 per month.

She receives 2.1 weeks vacation a year. Of these secretaries, 52.8 percent are single, 30.6 percent married, 11.9 percent divorced and four percent widowed, the National Secretaries Association discovered.

Of those who are married, 63.9 percent have no children. The other 36.1 percent have an average of three children. The $448.67 yearly that each of these secretaries spends on her wardrobe goes for these items:

Shoes $57; hats $28.26; cosmetics $27.40; accessories $43.43; beauty services $48.87; suits and dresses $236.52.

Slightly more than 23 percent of the secretaries have attended college, 49 percent went to business school and 51 percent attended high school.

French Ambassador Cites Answers To Soviet Imperialism

DENVER, Aug. 8. — (INS) — Henri Bonnet, French ambassador to the United States says the pooling of European industry under the Shuman plan and creation of a European federal army under Gen. Eisenhower were the answers to Soviet imperialism.

Bonnet, who addressed a seminar session of the University of Denver World Affairs Institute yesterday, declared that while the United Nations seeks global collective security, the nations of Western Europe must establish a regional security as the immediate answer to Red aggression.

He said: "The strength of the USSR, surrounded by satellites and flanked by Red China, cannot be underestimated and it seems even greater when compared to the forces of Western European nations weakened by two wars. Only the military and industrial unity of Democratic powers will displace this overbalancing power."

Bonnet urged support of the Atlantic Pact, development of the Shuman plan and the creation of "a federal army even before the creation of a federated states of Europe becomes a reality."

Europe's 'Shut-ins' Reached By Letter

NEW YORK — (INS) — Letters to "shut-ins" on an international scale have hit a new high in the last 12 months, with an estimated 74 million residents of iron curtain countries getting first-person impressions of the way Americans work and play and live.

The "biggest letter-writing campaign in history" hung up this record in its first year, according to Craig Sheaffer, president of the Sheaffer Pen company and member of the Letters From America committee. He called for "150 million or more impressions in the coming year" because "personal letters can do far more than speeches or tons of official documents in showing up the 'big lies' of communism."

Sheaffer said that even those Americans who do not themselves know anyone in the old country can help in "this uniquely effective truth campaign" by encouraging fellow-Americans who do have friends abroad to write them.

"Frankly but constructively about our jobs, our recreations, and the free pattern of life in this country."

WAC-WAF Recruiter To Be Here Friday

Pfc. Wanda L. Sager, WAC-WAF recruiter from the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Main Station, Pittsburgh, will be in New Castle, at the Post Office building from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Friday, August 10, 1951.

Pfc. Sager will interview young women between ages of 18-34, and answer inquiries concerning enlistment in the Women's Army Corps and Women's Air Force.

WAGE THREATS

NEW YORK — An enthusiastic feminist claims that America's 18,000,000 working women threaten the nation's economic security because of what she terms their "minority treatment." Doris Fleischman, vice president of the Lucy Stone League which is devoted to women's rights, says that women who are forced to work at lower pay than men have a tendency to depress all wages. That, she says, is a threat to a rising standard of living and economic security.

PINAFORES BACK

NEW YORK — Pinafores are coming back. Those quaint little fashions that have long been associated with little girls, or with women doing housework, are returning in a more glamorous manner. They're being put out in sheers and novelty fabrics, as well as in the good casual cottons that have long been their principal fabric.

Thomas Jefferson introduced waffles to this country.

Says Huge Aid For China Has Been Proposed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8. — (INS) — Sen. Byrd (D) Va., disclosed today that the administration has proposed a new $307,000,000 military and economic aid program for Nationalist China, and said it could possibly involve the U. S. in a war with Red China.

The senator said deputy under secretary of state Dean Rusk has outlined the new Formosa program in secret to the senate foreign relations and armed services committees which are studying the 8.5 billion dollar foreign aid bill.

He said the bulk of the Formosan fund—217 million dollars—would be for arms and other assistance to build up the army of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Byrd, a member of the joint committee, in questioning the proposal declared: "I thought that what we were trying to do was to avoid war with China and do everything possible not to extend the Korean war. I certainly am not going to vote for anything that might lead in that direction. When you start these things there is sometimes no telling where they will end."

Byrd referred to administration testimony during the MacArthur hearings in which the military leaders opposed any steps that would extend the Korean war. He pointed out that the joint chiefs opposed General MacArthur's recommendation for use of Chinese Nationalist troops in the Korean war.

BUILDING PERMITS

In The Open

I beat a leisurely path to the hilltop knoll, engineering the easiest grades through berry tangles and poison ivy thickets. Apparently these encroaching vagrants don't like to face the gale, for they halted their advance in a ring about thirty feet from the wind-swept summit. On top was a broad expanse of cinquefoil and poverty grass, with two little wild cherry saplings for added interest. Like Balboa gazing on the blue Pacific, I shaded my eyes and looked off across the hazy August hills.

Not half a mile distant one of the continent's main through highways pulsed with the tensions and irritations of continuous high speed traffic. Yet there I stood, apparently alone in the sleepy August hill country, except for the eight Guernsey cows placidly grazing across a slope far below. A half dozen new-built stacks stood out sharply against the clean background of the denuded hay fields.

That cinquefoil-poverty grass combination was just like a spring mattress. Soon I was flat on my back, peering up at the cottony clouds hurrying across the deep blue vault of the sky, and making the most of the bracing air. From a treetop perch in the neighborhood a lone chickin provided the only musical entertainment.

Sneak Punch

Then Mr. Morpheus got in a sneak rabbit punch and I lost track of the next half-hour. Pop-eyed locusts were running their air hammers all around when I woke up. One of these fellows blundered to a crash landing on a dog-bone stem close by. He tuned his kettle drums carefully, then beat out a racket calculated to bring me wide awake.

Taking the hint I set off on a wide circle across the upland fields. This area has not known the farmer's plough for many years and has become a countryman's delight. Big tiger swallowtails floated about the treetops, now and then tilting skyward in mock battle. One of the wood nymph butterflies was also abroad.

Continued drouth has played havoc with the blackberry crop, and I was disappointed with the poor prospects in one of my favorite bitter-sweet patches. Poison ivy, as usual, has done quite well this year. I seemed to be wading through it, or ducking past it, all during the afternoon.

Finally I left the hilltop and worked down through a stand of big-toothed aspen to a tiny spring-fed slough. Here was bonest in flower and some wild bergamot. The spring itself had gone underground and I had to trace it down the hill some distance before it bubbled out in surprisingly heavy flow.

Odd Winged Beechfern

The little ravine formed by the spring brook is shaded by some tall oaks and a few beech trees. Beneath these patriarchs the naked-flowered tick trefoil held up its long stalks with the few blossoms at the summit. Here also I saw the odd winged beechfern with the distinctive wings spread along the stems.

Deep in the green cavernous jungle of that ravine I loafed against the bole of a huge black oak and watched a family of wood peewees systematically murder every flying insect that dared to show itself. This was serious business to these flycatchers, and they went about it in grim silence. One of them even made a pass at a big brown butterfly, but somehow bungled the attack and the butterfly escaped.

The face of the August fields wears a sort of sun-tanned look, a sort of vacation-tired and bedraggled countenance, freckled with brown-eyed Susans. I saw an occasional bloom of purple milkwort and a great many of the yellow fingers of early goldenrod, every one of them pointing toward September.

This is the resting time of the birds. Most of the feathered households have sent their young out into the world and the clans take it easy, storing up energy for the annual jaunt southward. For many of the wayside wildlings August is a time of waiting. They have climbed Summer's hill and now poise on the summit, waiting for the signal to scramble down the other side into Autumn.

Police Recover Loot Taken In Washington

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—(INS)—Police have recovered about $15,000 worth of art objects, silverware and jewelry stolen from homes of U. S. senators and other personages in Washington.

The treasures were turned up in a fashionable Philadelphia antique shop yesterday as part of loot "collected" since 1948 by Kenneth Von Der Heide, 31, identified by police as a Washington burglar.

Police said Von Der Heide, under $20,000 bail in Washington, posed as a connoisseur in selling to eastern dealers.

Police said the Philadelphia shopkeeper, who was not identified, was unaware some of the articles were stolen from the suites of Sen. James P. Kem, (R-Mo.), and Sen. Guy M. Gillette (D-Iowa).

Some Progress
Is Being MadeScientists Making Progress Against
Baffling X-Disease

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(INS)—Agriculture scientists are making progress against the baffling X-disease which has spread to 37 states.

The scientists have been able to produce X-disease experimentally in cattle herds, but just what causes the disease has not yet been determined.

However, the agriculture department said today that the scientists, by producing the disease, have taken an important step forward.

Within the last few months identical symptoms and characteristic changes in the skin and some internal organs, as found in field cases of X-disease, have been produced under controlled experimental conditions with several different materials.

In natural cases, farmers find there is often failure of appetite, depression, loss of condition, watering of eyes, slobbering, and a progressive hardening and wrinkling of the skin due to increased horny material.

From the evidence now available it seems that no specific compounds or feed consistently produces the disease.

Only single lots of the materials used have produced symptoms, leading scientists to believe the products themselves are not at fault.

Instead, an unknown harmful agent either enters the product as a contaminant, or later develops in such a way as to produce the disease.

Cattle owners, therefore, need not discriminate against wood preservatives or any kinds of feed, the scientists say.

Meanwhile, active work will continue in at least ten state experiment stations, looking to the day when X-disease will no longer menace the nation's cattle.

The agriculture department reports that butter production dropped off seasonally and continued to lag behind 1950 figures last month. But receipts in the four major markets ran ahead of last season.

Supplies were ample last month, but the market was strengthened by light storage stocks and declining production. This was only partly offset by a comparably light consumer demand.

Prices at Chicago markets dropped to the support level on grade A butter last month, but no sales were made to the CCC.

Four Cousins Meet
Here For First Time
In Sixteen Years

For the first time in 16 years four cousins met in the homes of Mrs. John Cross, County Line street, and Mrs. Marie Smith, Stewart Place.

Mrs. Forest Eldredge of Santa Cruz, Calif., and Mrs. George Beitsch of New Brighton, together with Mrs. Cross and Mrs. Smith, held an old fashioned "remember when" party recently.

The cousins are descendants of Major Charles E. and Mary Allen Cheney, early pioneers of Pittsburgh. One of Pittsburgh's suburbs bears the name of the cousins' great-grandfather, Joseph Allen, who settled there in 1820.

At the time of the Civil war, Major Cheney and his family were living in Alexandria, Va. An aunt of the four living descendants of Major Cheney attended Ford's theatre to see the play "Our American Cousin" the night Abraham Lincoln was shot.

Mrs. Cross' and Mrs. Smith's mother was the late Mrs. Cledous Cheney Aubrie, a daughter of Major Cheney.

Mrs. Howard Ramsey was also a guest in the Cross and Smith homes at the time of the cousins' reunion.

BUSY PROGRAM READY FOR
4-H CLUB WEEK

The 27th Annual 4-H Club Week, August 13 to 16, at the Pennsylvania State College promises to be a busy affair for the more than 1,000 boys and girls who attend, including sixteen from Lawrence county.

Registration and enrollment closed Saturday, July 28. Those going from county are: Carol Martin, Phebe Jean Dean, Amy Lou Sholar, Joanne Bees, Carolyn Colie, Phillis Lutz, Lorraine Forbes, Joann Chrobak, Nancy Wingard, Donna Mundo, Nancy Hovelman, George Rotgaber, David Kendall, David Martin, Charles Dickinson, and George Maxwell.

Six club members will take part in dairy and swine judging contests. Club members will be housed in the college dormitories. Again the program will combine instruction, entertainment and recreation. The instruction will include addresses, demonstrations, and competitions.

Because of the popularity of assembly programs, featuring club members, that plan is being continued. Many of them in the different counties are now at work on musical numbers, dramatics, and stunts.

Soft ball will feature the sports program for boys, and several of the counties will be entering county teams for a tournament to be decided the final day.

Judging contests in agriculture will be on a team basis, three members to a team. These contests will be in dairy cattle, six classes; general livestock, two classes each of beef cattle, sheep, and swine; swine, four classes; poultry, three classes; vegetables, classes in tomatoes, sweet corn, peppers, beans, beets, carrots, onions, cabbage, and cucumbers; flower identification.

Silver cups and plaques will be awarded to winning teams.

There also will be demonstration contests in clean milk production and handling, poultry production, and poultry consumption, and exhibits by home-making clubs.

New York Stocks

Stock Market
Trend Is Mixed

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(INS)—The stock market adhered to a generally mixed pattern today. Selected issues were higher, but disappointment over the inability of the list to capitalize yesterday on Monday's break-through of the industrial averages to a new 21-year high, was reflected in scattered selling of many recent leaders.

Motor stocks did better than average. Rails were mostly lower. Volume for the first half tapered off to 280,000 shares as against 430,000 yesterday.

The bond market was mixed with rails favoring the downside. Commodities were irregular.

Senate Committee To Make Preliminary West Point Probe

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(INS)—Chairman Hoye (D-N.C.) declared today that his senate investigating committee will go ahead with its "preliminary" probe into the West Point cheating scandal pending inquiry by the senate armed services committee.

Hoye denied reports that the armed services committee has "priority" and his group will discontinue its probe if the armed services members decide to look into the situation.

But Hoye said that the armed services committee has not yet reached a decision and in the meantime, his investigating group will continue with a "preliminary" inquiry. Hoye said if the armed services committee decides against extending the investigation, his committee then will vote on whether to go more fully into the accusations against the 90 cadets at the military academy.

Deaf Clinic Ground Broken

Ground has been broken in Los Angeles, Calif., for the new $250,000 John Tracy Clinic for deaf children.

Mrs. Tracy, the former Louise Treadwell of New Castle, turned the first spadeful of earth for the new clinic, the beginning of the materialization of a dream she has had for years.

Raising the money for the new clinic required four years' effort. Back of that is a history of hard work and patience in the development of the clinic designed to aid children who are born deaf.

The clinic is named for John Tracy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Tracy, who was himself born deaf. Working with him as a child Mrs. Tracy found that deaf youngsters could be aided to talk and out of this trying experience came the founding of the clinic.

For a number of years the clinic has occupied three buildings upon the grounds of the University of Southern California. When the new clinic is put into operation it will have adequate facilities for the work of aiding deaf children.

Historical Medical Highlights No. 22—

VICTORY OVER PAIN

It was a young Boston dentist who did most to introduce anaesthetics into surgical use. William Morton's discoveries were inspired by wanting to reduce his patients' suffering when he removed tooth roots preparatory to installing his new dental plates. Charles Jackson, Boston chemist, suggested ether to him, and Morton successfully used the gas in an extraction in 1846. Later, he publically administered ether for a surgical operation at the Massachusetts General Hospital, introducing ether's benefits to the medical world.

We are deeply conscious of our obligations in taking a part in the battle against illness and suffering. Our professional tasks are therefore done with perfected skill and knowledge to assure ourselves—and you—that they shall be done right.

Anniversary Of Couple Marked

Large Group Aids In Evening Event

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Klammer, well known residents of Mt. Jackson, were honored on their twenty-fifth (silver) wedding anniversary August 4 at a local club room with their son and daughter-in-law as hosts for the memorable occasion. The table which was centered with a large tiered cake, was set for 50 guests, with the guests providing the cake.

The miniature bride and groom atop the cake was the same one used by the Klammers when they were united in marriage 25 years ago. Silver candle holders were used and bouquets of cut flowers added to the occasion.

A delicious full course chicken dinner was enjoyed by the group and then the guests and honorees enjoyed dancing until a late hour.

Sunday, the couple were again pleasantly honored at their home, in Mt. Jackson, when a picnic dinner was served to approximately 50 guests. Music was supplied by the honored couples son and daughter-in-law. Many beautiful gifts of silver were received with a large assortment of greeting cards displayed.

Supposed Barn Fire Keeps Firemen Busy

Firemen of two county fire departments, that of North Beaver township and Union township were kept quite busy for some little time on Tuesday evening in their effort to track down a barn fire that did not exist.

North Beaver Volunteers received a call shortly after 9 p.m. Tuesday, stating that a barn fire was in progress on the "Rogers" farm. The Union firemen received the same information. The volunteers hastily sped out in the section near Covert's station to investigate the report and ready for action if there were such a fire.

Union volunteers as well as the North Beaver boys sped many miles over the country side but could find no barn on fire after checking two Roger farms. It was discovered that a large dump in the vicinity of the American Cyanamid company was burning rather brightly reflecting in the sky which might have been the cause for the undue concern of residents.

Firemen ask again, as they have in the past, for residents to make sure of the location of the fire place and to be sure there is one before they place a call to their volunteer department. Some of the trucks Tuesday night were dangerous ones and could have been the means of putting the heavy equipment out of commission.

They appreciate the alertness of residents but request that accuracy be used in describing a fire and its location.

Elephants Are Squeamish Too

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Aug. 8.—(INS)—A man who has followed the sea for 24 years is bound to have met some strange passengers and some curious cargo in his day. And to have overhauled some odd crises.

But the queerest combination of the three he ever encountered, Capt. Frank Roebuck said, was a pregnant elephant.

"And to think I am probably the first person who ever gave an elephant penicillin," said the captain, as he sat with a cup of coffee in the skipper's pleasant suite aboard the SS Schuyler Otis Bland, the American President Lines' newest freighter, and the most stylish one imaginable.

Elephants are amish. As a result of the penicillin treatment, the captain said he discovered that elephants are as squeamish about hypodermic needles as humans and confirmed the fact that they—the elephants—never forget.

It was like this, the captain said: "I was chief officer of the Pres. Taft in the spring of 1949. At Hong Kong we loaded four elephants, 500 monkeys, 1000 birds and thirteen pythons.

"Taffy, the biggest of the elephants, was marked for first class treatment, because, we were told, she was pregnant and it would be a major triumph to have her off-spring born in America.

"So we treated Taffy with every respect. But just out of Yokohama, Taffy got pneumonia. Now, I didn't know anything about elephants, but the man officially accompanying that menagerie back to the United States knew even less.

"Taffy wouldn't eat and she wouldn't drink and her legs began to buckle. And she was running a temperature. You know how I knew she was running a temperature? Simple! I'd just lean on the other elephants and then lean on Taffy, and she was a lot hotter than they were.

Penicillin Might Cure. "But I didn't know what to do for an elephant sagging at the knees with pneumonia until I remembered that I had read that penicillin was a miraculous cure for pneumonia in humans.

"So I figured if it was good enough for humans, it was good enough for Taffy. I went to the sick bay and got three hypoder-mics of 300,000 units each. That was a lot of penicillin, but Taffy was a lot of elephant.

"I put the first shot in her shoulder and the needle only bent a little. I discovered right then that an elephant hasn't a thick hide after all. It's just that thin, top crust that's tough.

"Well, Taffy looked reproachful. So I decided to move aft to give her the rest of the treatment. You know how loose and wrinkled elephants are? Well, all I could do was just grab a miscellaneous handful of elephant and jab away."

The captain repeated the performance next day with another 900,000 units of penicillin, good for man or beast.

Happily for Taffy and Capt. Roebuck, the treatment worked like a charm. In three days, Taffy's temperature was down, she was back on her feet and snapping at peanuts with her old vigor.

Hurt His Feelings. But it hurt the captain's feelings that Taffy from that time until the voyage was over backed away from him every time he went down to see her. She couldn't forget or forgive those hypodermic needles.

Capt. Roebuck, a tall, handsome man with weathered face, bright blue eyes and iron gray hair, will set sail in his new express freighter shortly for a four months voyage 'round the world. It is the kind of de luxe freighter on which those of us with itchy feet long to get away from it all.

The SS Schuyler Otis Bland carries only 12 passengers in staterooms as comfortable and handsomely furnished as those on the big blue-ribbon transatlantic liners.

"But did Taffy name her offspring after you?" I asked before I left ship. "It seems only fair." "No," he said. "No, she didn't. When I got home months later from another voyage, my wife had saved a newspaper clipping for me. After keeping Taffy in luxurious surroundings for a year, the people who bought her discovered she wasn't conceited after all. Everyone was mad but me."

Ever buy a car from this angle?

SURE, a trim new Buick makes a mighty pretty picture when you see it in your driveway, or watch it wheel by.

But if you could get a mechanic's-eye view of this big, broad beauty as it sits on a lift, you'd see an impressive picture of rugged brawn that makes good-to-look-at Buicks give such a good account of themselves on the road.

You'd see the full-length torque-tube drive that firms the whole power relay system, and steadies your going like a giant hand beneath you.

You'd see big sturdy wheels with really wide rims that provide surer footing, give better car control, make tires last longer.

You'd see all four wheels cushioned by stout coil springs that are completely service-free, practically breakproof—and a principal reason for the ever-level Buick ride.

But mainly, you'd see the massive foundation that backbones every Buick—the deep, wide, X-member frame that's rugged as a rock, and a brute for strength.

So when you look at the beauty of a Buick—the big mileage power of its valve-in-head Fireball Engine—and the moneysaving ability of its Dynaflo Drive®—don't overlook the tough stamina that goes with it all.

And don't overlook the fact that a new '51 Buick, with all its heft, costs less per pound than any other car of comparable size, structure and weight.

Better come see us first chance you get—and find out what a smart buy this is—from every angle.

NO OTHER CAR PROVIDES ALL THIS:

DYNAFLOW DRIVE®—saves strain on driver and car

FIREBALL ENGINE—high-compression, valve-in-head—gets more miles from every tank of fuel

PUSH-BAR FOREFRONT—combines smart style and unsurpassed protection

TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE—seals the chassis, steadies ride, improves driving control

4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING—cushions and levels the ride, saves servicing costs

SELF-ENERGIZING BRAKES—hydraulic—multiply pedal pressure five times at brake drum

DREAMLINE STYLING—tapered, car-length fenders, gleaming sweepers on most models

Girl Scout Camp To Close On Thursday

Established camp for Girl Scouts of the New Castle Area, Inc., will close its last period with a campfire for parents and friends Thursday, August 9, at 7 p. m.

In spite of the almost constant rainy weather, campers have had an exciting time. The group is looking forward to Thursday's campfire, as it will be the first all-camp campfire program this period.

The campers had a rodeo in the barn with supper being served there. There was a picnic supper on the green in front of the mess hall Sunday evening. The traditional boat sailing when each girl sails her boat of wishes out into the world from the rocks below the amphitheater was also held Sunday evening.

Mrs. J. F. Rentz Speaks

Mrs. J. F. Rentz presented the story "This Is My Father's World" to the campers who were not taken to New Castle for services Sunday morning. When the others returned and the camp service ended, all enjoyed a turkey dinner.

During Monday evening's rain there was a moving picture program with "The Great Kitchen", a film, telling the story of one of our largest food processing companies, being shown, the picture tying in with the daily nature program. The campers went merrily to sleep in bunnies after seeing two Abbott and Costello funny films and having hot chocolate in their cabins before "lights out".

Swimming and boating have been daily features, the girls finding the water bracing, but fun. When the weather was inclement, that part of the boating and swimming program having to do with water safety and artificial respiration was carried on in the barn.

Parents To Attend

Parents are to go for their daughters about 7 o'clock. There will be no waiting in getting luggage packed, as campers will be checked out and have belongings packed before closing colors and a short campfire. About 300 adults joined the girls last week in the color ceremony and stayed for campfire. All cars left at the same time, there being much satisfaction expressed in how quickly all started happily on their way.

The following campers attended this period:

"The Hilltoppers"

Sen. McCarthy Says He Will Name 29

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(INS)—Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., said today he will name in the Senate 29 persons whose cases are pending before the State Department loyalty board.

McCarthy declined to give the names to newsmen without advance assurance they will be published.

The Wisconsin Republican told reporters at a news conference in his office that he will give the 29 names in the Senate in a "day or two."

Drive Slow—Children Move Fast!

Defense coordinator for Lawrence County was in charge of the meeting.

Other needs were also cited and include: the distribution of CD literature, possibly by the boy scouts, and at the schools; training for auxiliary firemen, policemen, and wardens; an escape route plan for plants and industries; and first aid courses for trainers and trainees.

In addition, the establishment of a speaker's bureau was discussed, which would bring the Civil Defense story before local clubs and organizations.

Consensus of the group's opinion was that there is too much apathy and complacency among the people and that the big job of those in position was to put across the story on all levels.

HEART TROUBLE

Boston (SF)—Three times more men than women suffer coronary heart trouble.

Wilmington grangers will have their annual picnic at the hall on High street, Thursday evening at 6:30. Weather permitting, the sports program will take place on the grounds. Otherwise, all diversions will be held in the hall.

Each family planning to attend is requested to bring a basket lunch, pie, and table service.

The evening program to be given after the dinner will be a repeat performance of the Travelling Program which was held at East New Castle grange hall during the past month. This is being done in compliance with popular request.

A special surprise feature is being arranged by Lecturer Meek as another part of the program.

Dr. James D. Brown, a missionary to Pakistan, will occupy the pulpit of Third U. P. church, East

Washington at Adams, Sunday mornings, August 12 and 19, at 11 o'clock. Dr. Brown, a son of missionary parents, was born in India, where his father was a medical missionary for many years. He is a graduate of Muskingum college, New Concord, O., and of Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological seminary, Pittsburgh. The honor degree, doctor of divinity, was conferred upon the mission worker at Muskingum's commencement in June, 1951. Dr. and Mrs. Brown and their three boys arrived in the United States in late May on furlough. They will be in the states for more than a year visiting their families and speaking extensively. For many years the Third church has helped support the Brown family in Pakistan. Several years ago

Wolves Members Hear Speakers

Two speakers from the U. S. Postoffice department addressed the Wolves club Tuesday evening at their regular dinner-meeting held at The Castleton at 6:30. Postmaster William R. Hanna spoke on the easy method of mailing letters and parcels. His talk was enlightening and quite interesting.

Afterwards he introduced Postal Inspector Glenn from Pittsburgh, Pa., who told the members about mail fraud and how prosecution of these mail violators is brought about. His subject was very interesting. President George Scarazzo presided at the meeting. Program chairman Frank Sgaraglino announced that the annual corn roast will be held on August 19 at Oakhurst. At the next meeting on Tuesday, August 21, Tom Foley, district manager of the Manufacturers Light & Heat company, will be the speaker.

Theft Of $108,813 In Memorial Fund Charge Is Faced

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(INS)—The New York County Grand jury handed up a 25-count indictment today charging Marine Corps Major Harry R. Dash, 47, with the theft of $108,813 intended for a memorial to the heroes of Iwo Jima.

The indictment charged Dash with multiple acts of grand larceny and forgery.

The complaint against the reserves major was signed by Brig. Gen. Robert L. Derig, chairman of the Marine Corps War Memorial foundation.

The indictment charged the funds were taken from the foundation by Dash between October and December 1950.

Dash was executive director of the foundation during that period. It was charged that Dash drew the money from the memorial fund by checks issued under his own name. He claimed the money was due him for sums he had advanced from his own pocket.

Dash was said to have made restitution of $46,000 to the fund but still owes the other $62,000.

Cleveland Indians Have Pennant Gleam, Trail Yanks By Half-Game

Tribe Picks Up On Idle Yanks, Redskins Getting Top Pitching

By HOWARD SIGMAND
(L. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(INS)—A not-too-laughed-at joke concerning relief pitching and the Cleveland Indians is circulating in the American League today.

The punch line, which gets laughs only in the Tribe teepes, is that the Indians have no need for relievers because all their starters are finishers.

Four Top Hurlers

If the Indians are to come out on top of the Yankees in their dogfight for the flag, it undoubtedly will be because of Al Lopez' "big four" mound corps. Bob Feller, Bob Lemon, Early Wynn, Mike Garcia and company have hurled 54 complete games and won 43 of them.

The team, trailing the Bombers by half a game, has won 19 of its last 24 games, six in a row, and in the period from July 15 on the Tribe mound aces have completed 16 games, winning 14 of these.

That's pitching. And if you have a fellow like Lou Brissie in your relief sack just in case, brother, that's danger.

Garcia was the fellow who showed the way last night. The big bear hurled four-hit ball as the Indians took care of the St. Louis Browns 5 to 1. Mike, who racked up his 15th triumph, also drove home three runs with a sixth inning homer.

Red Sox Lose

The Boston Red Sox, who also figured to have some real good pitching kept on their merry, stumbling way. They fell 4½ games off the pace when they lost, 7 to 4, to the Philadelphia Athletics.

Jim Busby singled home Eddie Robinson from second base with the winning run in the 13th inning as the Chicago White Sox nosed out the Detroit Tigers, 2 to 1. Robinson's 20th homer accounted for the first run for Chicago.

The Yankees and Senators were not scheduled.

Phillies Win Two

The Philadelphia Phillies stole the National League show with some brilliant pitching that gave them a 3 to 1 and 1 to 0 fifth inning triumph over the Boston Braves in a two-night doubleheader.

Another well pitched game was the one in which Bob Rush of the Chicago Cubs set down the Cincinnati Reds, 4 to 1 on just four hits.

But one that didn't have too much hurling saw the St. Louis Cardinals slaughter the Pittsburgh Pirates, 16 to 7.

A scheduled night game between the first place Dodgers and the second place Giants was rained out.

Perry S. Gaston American Legion post baseball team will play Beaver Falls Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at East Palestine in the Tri-State tourney second round.

The game was originally scheduled for Thursday evening but was changed to Sunday and changed from Columbiana to East Palestine.

Beaver Falls defeated East Palestine in the first round Tuesday evening. New Castle defeated Salem Monday evening.

Tony Tuscano sent Ross-Morelli softballers into the city championship playoff series last night with his second playoff pitching win over Bossert. Ross-Morelli, behind "Ironhorse's" two-hitter at Gaston Park, turned back Bossert 6 to 1.

DeVito and Litrenta, with a pair of singles, and Calza and Cioppo, each with a double, were offensive standouts for Ross-Morelli. Pace and Covelli picked up heavy bats for the losers.

A five-run fifth relegated Bossert to also rans. Demos was the losing pitcher.

Ross-Morelli and Teamsters will open their championship playoff series Friday with aces Tuscano and Embroski scheduled for mound duty.

In the meantime the R-M's will play Sharon tonight at Gaston Park at 6:15 and Universal of the Mercantile League Thursday.

Large Crowd On Hand For Little Big League Park Opener

Over 2,000 See Fourth Defeat Third Ward, 12-1

Second Half Play To Begin Tonight

A crowd, estimated at over 2,000 persons, was on hand Tuesday evening for the opening of Little League park on the Dean Park site, Taylor street.

The Fourth and Third Ward teams, battling for the first half championship of the City Little League, rewarded the fans with a fine display of baseball.

The Fourth Ward ran off with the first half toga with a decisive 12-1 win, behind the two-hit hurling of Bob Long, who struck out 15 batters in the six inning tilt.

DiCarlo hit a long home run over the fence in the first inning for one of the highlights of the contest. Long, Mazzacoe, Flannery and Byler had extra base hits.

Oleewski and Sizer had the two Third Ward hits off Long. Fireball Stone, Third Ward starter, was charged with the loss.

Opening Ceremonies

Little League secretary, Wesley Mann, conducted the opening night ceremonies and called upon Judge W. Walter Braham, Mayor John F. Haven, Dr. James Gillespie and Little League president Joseph Travers to speak. All commented briefly on the fine job being done in the Little Big League and on their new field at Dean Park.

Rev. Fr. Thomas Smith hurled the first ball of the game, with Mayor Haven doing the catching, and Rev. D. T. McIntosh batting.

The field was in fine condition, due mainly to the hard work of league president Joseph Travers and those other persons that donated their services to the Little League.

Umpires Morelli and Griffith of the Lawrence County Umpires' association, donated their services for the evening.

Second half of the Little League season will get under way tonight with the Third Ward meeting the Eighth Ward at Little League Park.

The Fourth Ward will meet the Sixth Ward at Lee Avenue Field. In a practice game the Fifth Ward will play the First Ward at Benjamin Franklin Field.

B. & O. Wins Over DeCarbos, Enter League Playoffs

B. & O. won from DeCarbos last night at Deshon Field 11 to 2 and gained the second-half Mercantile League softball champions. The railroaders will now enter a five-game playoff series against the Universals, first half winner.

In action last night, B. & O. thrower Owens held off DeCarbos with but three hits while his mates were pounding out eight. Headland was charged with the loss.

Playoffs will begin tonight at 6:15 at Deshon Field and will continue every Wednesday and Friday until one team wins three games.

Hogan Favored To Cop Title

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—(INS)—Bantam Ben Hogan, three-time winner of the National Open, will rank as favorite among some of the top golfers of the world Thursday when the 72-hole so-called "world championship" of golf opens at Chicago's Tam O'Shanter Country Club.

Hogan, who also annexed the "world championship" crown at the Tam O'Shanter extravaganza last time he appeared three years ago, brought home a four-under-par 68 in yesterday's practice round.

Course Easier

Bantam Ben said he believes the changes made in the course since 1947 have made it easier. The course record is 63, established by Tam O'Shanter pro Lloyd Mangrum but promoter George S. May has offered a $5,000 prize to the golfer who scores a 62 or better.

The world tournaments include two open events for men and women and will continue through Sunday with $56,100 in prize money at stake.

In addition to the top golfers of the U. S., the field of starters also will have nine outstanding foreign golfers including Bobby Locke of Johannesburg, South Africa.

St. Lucy Plays Volant Tonight

East Brook Tops Volant In Replay

St. Lucy meets Volant tonight at Hillsville in the playoff of a postponed game. The Saints need a win to tie the Eden-Hillers for fourth place in the league standings and to force a playoff game to see who enters the league playoffs.

If a playoff game between St. Lucy and the Eden-Hillers is necessary, it will probably be played Thursday or Friday evening.

League playoffs begin Monday evening with the third place team playing at the home field of the second place team.

BROOKERS WIN 9-7

East Brook defeated Volant 9-7 Tuesday evening at East Brook in the playoff of a protested game. The game began in the third inning at the point of the infraction of the rule with Volant leading 4-0 and Wallas on third.

Bob Sisek paced the Brooker attack with a home run and three runs batted in. Parish was the winning pitcher, Fyffe the loser.

Preps Jaycee Squad For All Star Contest

Bridenbaugh Names Latsko, Sansone To West Penn Grid Team

New Castle football coach Phil Bridenbaugh, today readied his Western Pennsylvania 1951 Jaycee All Star squad, for the August 16 Pittsburgh Junior Chamber of Commerce game, set for South Hills stadium.

Bridy recently named Ray Latsko and John Sansone to his all star squad, both New Castle backfield stars in 1950. Latsko will replace William Hoffman of Greensburg, in the West Penn backfield, and Sansone will accompany the team instead of Don "Bucky" Tate, who is now at Illinois and will not play.

Danny DeFalco, New Castle tackle of last year, was previously named to the team.

An expected crowd of 10,000 is expected to fill the new South Hills stadium, for this, the fourth annual West Penn-Allegheny county game.

Fifty-two All-Starlettes, including Carlotta Christofer of New Castle, will compete for the title of Miss Jaycee of 1951, during colorful halftime ceremonies.

Hambletonian Race Postponed

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 8.—(INS)—A drizzling rain today forced postponement until tomorrow of the $95,263.93 Hambletonian, richest harness race in history.

The 24-hour layover was expected to make no difference in the record size of the field of 21 three-year-old trotters.

Williams Meets Turner September 10

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—(INS)—Former lightweight champion Ike Williams will meet Gil Turner, conqueror of Charley Fusari, in a 10-round battle on Sept. 10 at Philadelphia's Shibe park.

Turner, a Philadelphian, will be seeking his 23rd successive win.

Stockholders, Directors Will Meet Tonight

Scarazzo Calls Crucial Session

Tonight at 8 o'clock at the Hotel New Penn, the New Castle Citizens Baseball Inc. stockholders and board of directors will meet with President Al Scarazzo.

Just what will be discussed at the meeting is a matter of conjecture, but most certainly the financial situation of the Indians will come in for some kind of airing.

Season Nearing End

The Indians have 10 regular scheduled home games remaining on the 1951 card, not counting a few postponed games that remain. Oil City dropping out leaves the August 28, 29 and 30 games open. The final home game for the Indians on the regular card will be August 27th with Lockport playing here.

The Indians have not been supported this year like they should have been for the caliber of baseball that they have played.

It behooves each and everyone with one or more shares of stock to attend the momentous meeting tonight. The ball club belongs to the citizens of this community.

Eleven Men Are Being Considered For Baseball's Highest Position

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(INS)—Major league club owners began a two week study period today in which to consider the eleven remaining candidates for the office of baseball commissioner.

The sixteen owners have set August 21 as the date for the next meeting and Yankee co-owner Dol Webb said yesterday he is "hopeful a new commissioner will be elected" at that session.

Other than admitting that the 11 remaining candidates represented "a cross-section of all types, baseball men, politicians, business men and others," the executives would not disclose the identity of those discussed at yesterday's meeting.

Field Narrows Down
Five men are said to be front runners for A. B. "Happy" Chandler's post. They are National League president Ford Frick; minor league czar George Trautman; Cincinnati Reds' president Warren Giles; Gen. Douglas MacArthur and former postmaster general James Farley.

Webb, a member of a four-man screening committee which sifted through 500 possibilities for the job, said approximately 40 names were placed before the owners, who narrowed the field to 11.

The Yankee co-owner also disclosed a three man committee composed of Giles, Branch Rickey of the Browns, is considering revisions of the commissioner's contract, to get on with "more teeth in it."

Meanwhile, Clarence "Pants" Rowland, president of the Pacific Coast League, arrived to put in a demand that he be exempted from the baseball draft. Rowland was to meet with a committee composed of Trautman, Webb and Rickey.

Rowland said it is the ultimate aim of his league to attain major league status. He said:

"That will not be possible until we get the relief our fans deserve from the discriminatory draft regulations. Until we get this exemption, we will not be able to build up teams of major league caliber."

Kathleen Riley Winner In First Round Match Play

Kathleen Riley of New Castle, won the 17th and 18th holes to nose out Mrs. John M. Dyson of Hazleton one up in first round match play Tuesday, of the Pennsylvania Women's Golf Championship, at the Allegheny Country Club.

Miss Riley will now meet the qualifying medalist Nancy Shaw. The situation was reversed with Mrs. Thomas Nolan of New Castle, who lost the last two holes and the match one-down to Jane Martin, former West Penn champ.

In the second division Maureen Riley lost two and one to Mrs. F. G. Weir of Shannopin.

Three Doubles Teams Enter Local Tourney

Ted Lewis and Bob Jackson, Tom Jones and Bob Sturgeon, and Eugene DeCaprio and Bill Samuels, are the newest doubles entries in the New Castle Tennis tournament.

Lewis and Jackson were defeated in the finals of last year's local tournament. Jones and Sturgeon have also entered the singles tournament.

Also announced today was the Junior tournament registration which includes: singles—Arnold, Hoffman, Lee, J. Cobau, B. McAfee, and Morrissey; doubles—Arnold and Hoffman, McAfee and Cobau.

Entries close today at 5 p.m. and tournament play will begin Sunday, August 12. Pairings will be announced later.

Baseball immortal Ty Cobb, former sportswriter John Kieran and Maryland University President Harry C. Byrd have been named to a special government panel to rule on salaries of professional athletes.

Student Seating Arrangement At Stadium Changed

The athletic committee of the New Castle public schools has worked out an improved arrangement for seating students at the football games at Taggart Stadium this year, in an effort to avoid the overcrowding and occasional misconduct which have characterized the student section in the past.

This year only holders of student season tickets will be admitted to the concrete stands, except for the section at the extreme south end of the stand. They will be admitted through the center gate, and also through the gate at the north end of the stand on DuShane street. No single game tickets will be sold at the booths near those gates. Every student in the New Castle public schools, parochial schools, and in those districts which send their high school students to New Castle High school will have an opportunity to buy a season ticket through their school at the beginning of the term.

Students who buy a single game ticket will get it at the booth at the south end of the concrete stands on DuShane street, and will be admitted through the gate at the south end of the stands into the section at the extreme south end. They will not be permitted to get into the same section with the season ticket holders. In case the end section of the stands fills up, the remainder of these students will occupy bleacher seats at the south end of the field.

Non-Students Elsewhere

One of the principal reasons for making this change is to prevent persons who are not students from gaining admission to the student section through purchase of a single game student ticket. Since season tickets are sold only through the schools, it is impossible for a non-student to buy one. Any student who permits a non-student to use his season ticket runs the risk of having it confiscated when a non-student attempts to gain admission with it. This is a serious matter because it not only involves a violation of the school's regulations, but also constitutes evasion of Federal and city taxes.

With the new prices this year, the advantage of a student having a season ticket is greater than ever. A season ticket this year will cost $2.00, including Federal and city taxes. Single game admissions will be 50¢. Therefore there is a saving of $1.50 to every student who attends all seven of the home games. Besides this, the committee believes that there will be ample space for season ticket holders in the section reserved for them and intends to see to it that there are only students in this section.

The last duel recorded in North Carolina was fought in 1802. One of the duelists was the governor of the state.

Four New Castle Cars Scheduled At Pulaski Friday

A nine event program is scheduled for this Friday evening at the new Pulaski Speedway. The program will include a 25 lap feature, a 15 lap semi-feature, an Australian Pursuit race, helmet dash, four heat races, and a special match race.

The match race, will be a grudge race, between the last weeks winner of the mid-season Championship, "Wink" Hastings, Greenville, Pa., and runner up, Wayne Read, of Garrettsville, O.

Their was much controversy and argument over who should of been the winner last Friday night and a protest was filed. Wayne Read led most of the race and was then forced to make a pit stop to remove a trunk lid which he hit on the track and became forced under his steering. Hastings took over the lead while Read was in the pits and then went on to win the trophy race. Race drivers and fans alike are interested in the outcome of this match race.

Among the other "State Line Stock Car Racing Association" drivers who will be back in competition Friday night are: The father and son racing team from Masury, O., Al Metz Sr. and Al Metz Jr., Don Klug, top point man from Hubbard, O., Gene Simpson, Ken Feigert, Sharon, Pa., Dick Beaman, New Castle, Pa., Frank Troit, New Castle, Pa., Cliff Sturdevant, Youngstown, O., and several new drivers including Jerry Burris, West Middlesex, Pa., Bob Rupert, Mercer, Pa., Barney Barnes, Mercer, Pa., Don Kent, New Castle, Pa., and Bill Richard, also of New Castle.
